

TENTATIVE PLANNING
IRELAND – LOCAL ELECTIONS

DATE: JUNE 5, 2024

NOTE: The election date is still not known, but is expected to be announced, eventually, for the second half of 2024. We are keeping an eye on the developing situation.

We are seeking applications from both experienced and inexperienced Short Term Observers (any nationality).

The observation mission will run for 8 days. Here is the tentative general schedule:

- June 2: – Arrive hotel in Dublin
- June 3: - Briefing/training all day
- June 4: - Deploy to Area of Observation and familiarization
- June 5: - Election Day
- June 6: - Observe Count. If count is not finished, return to counting centre on June 7 to continue observation
- June 7: - Continue to observe count if necessary, return to Dublin
- June 8: - Debrief, team dinner
- June 9: - Return home, or continue with private plans

This is a completely self-funded mission.

The participation fee (in Pounds Sterling), subject to change, is yet to be determined.

The participation fee includes accommodations (breakfast included), mission fees, and most in-country transportation. It does NOT include transportation to or from the UK, personal incidentals or meals. Drivers will be provided during the actual observation period.

On a case by case basis, we will support visa applications upon payment of a non-refundable deposit of £250.
